We, the team of NIRA on the behalf of members of Governing Board of NIRA are happy to present this annual report for the year, 13-14.

This report aims to highlight the yearly achievements, progress of activities and key challenges along with successful endeavors of NIRA with their outcomes. It is also a presentation of the focused and relentless work done by the team of NIRA.

P R E F A C E

This yearly Report of NIRA represents an assortment of perspectives, action and outcomes requires the support and contribution of many individuals, partners, co-travellers including resource persons, guides, people and institutions.

The present report emphasises the efforts of NIRA, Jaipur, a voluntary organisation working since last two decades in different parts of Rajasthan, towards awareness rising, contributing in care and support of unprivileged community and preventive actions to control high prevalence of HIV AIDS cases in Rajasthan. Rehabilitation of people by capacity building to involved in new opportunities of livelihood through NAVJEEVAN Project.

NIRA, Jaipur has taken the initiative to support the government system to raise mass awareness among the citizens of Rajasthan and directed its programme towards preventive care and monitoring of such cases with supportive mechanisms of NACO. The present report thus aims to focus on such efforts taken by NIRA as a part of its targeted initiatives.

NIRA passes its heartiest thanks to all its partners, associates and the Government for their constant support and help. NIRA also pay its gratitude to all its well- wishers, and volunteers without whom this annual report could not have been in its actual shape.

We all sincerely thank all the readers to support the cause for which NIRA is putting all initiatives and your contribution in future endeavour.

Director

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF RURAL AFFAIRS

National Institute of Rural Affairs Samiti, popular as NIRA, a voluntary non-profit organization was set up in the year 2000 under Rajasthan Society Registration Act. NIRA came into existence long before its registration with its constant hard work with the target groups.

NIRA was established with the purpose of rural advancement through sensitization and generating awareness on various developmental issues. With special attention on the health sector, NIRA has worked actively to achieve its set goals, focusing on awareness generation among the target populations, providing care and support and initiating interventions.

VISION

NIRA envisions to promote rural development through collective efforts; and to reach the un-reached population, especially women to provide convergence in health, environment, social welfare and economic development.

MISSION

Our mission is to provide continuous efforts collectively with the people, organizations, and partners of likeminded services.

OBJECTIVES:

- To promote rural development through collective efforts; and to reach the un-reached population, especially women to provide convergence in health, environment, social welfare and economic development.
- Strengthen past programmes through trainings, research and impact evaluation studies and communicating developmental issues
- To promote and make rural development effective by utilizing the available local resources and encourage human resource development
- To promote social values through scientific research and to promote integrated rural development by strengthening socio-cultural activities.
